

Notes for Authors

1. Journal of Science, Technology and Humanities (JSTH) is a professional academic journal founded by the Realworld Institute for Philosophy and Society(RIPS). The academic editorial committee of the journal is composed of well-known scholars from China-Canada University. The regular columns include the following Intellectual themes: Philosophy of Science & Technology, Science Studies, Science and Culture, Science and Religion, Science & Technology and Ethics, Technology Development and Communication, Philosophy and Culture of Chinese and Western, Religious Culture Studies, etc.
  2. The journal warmly welcomes contributions from world-wide most outstanding thinkers, and especially encourages contributions from young scholars (including PhD and master candidates).
  3. The journal upholds an objective and impartial academic standpoint, emphasizing theoretical innovation, practical involvement and problem awareness under the interdisciplinary perspective.
  4. The journal strictly implements the anonymous review system, and will notify the author whether to accept the manuscript within 3 months after receiving the manuscript. During this period, please do not submit more than publications.
  5. Once the article is published, it is deemed that the author allows the editorial committee of Journal of Science, Technology and Humanities (JSTH) and the Realworld Institute for Philosophy and Society(RIPS) to use the entire article and have the copyright property rights, as well as the right to select the whole or part of the article for reproduction and dissemination, using the following new media for promotion, including but not limited to websites, WeChat public accounts, YouTube, and Twitter.
  6. Reprinting, translation, and collection and publication based on any other form and media of a third party must be authorized in writing by the editorial committee of Journal of Science, Technology and Humanities (JSTH).
  7. This journal strictly prevents plagiarism and encourages originality.
  8. All annotations shall be in the form of footnotes, bet on each page, and end each page.
  9. Journal submission mailbox: jsth.editor@gmail.com
- Please indicate the words "Journal of Science, Technology and Humanities (JSTH) " in the email. Please check whether it meets the annotation specification and format requirements of this journal before submitting your manuscript.